ACADEMY

Our Bishop

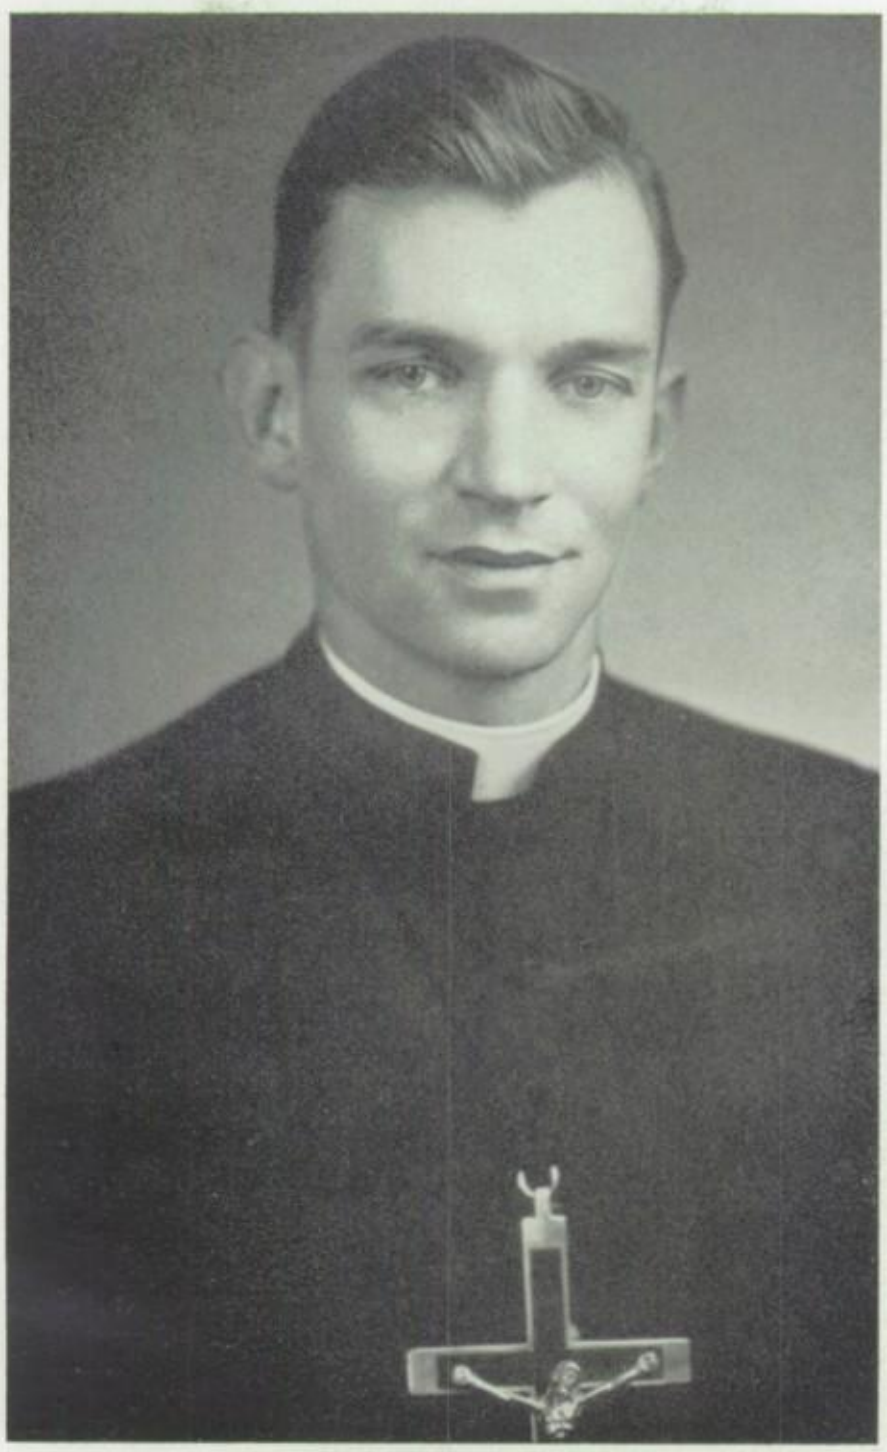
Although our Most Reverend Bishop has been with us only a year and a half, we have come to know and to revere him. We can often recognize his tall figure walking briskly from the Cathedral to his home on Parkwood Avenue after services or ecclesiastical business. He often stops to talk to the Academy girls, always impressing them with his very genuine fatherliness.

Since his appointment to Toledo, Bishop Rehring has busied himself with the problems of the diocese. Manifesting an active interest in each one's difficulties, he has endeared himself to young and old alike.

Carrying on the St. Ursula tradition, Bishop Rehring will present diplomas and a graduation address to the Senior Class. What more fitting climax to four years at St. Ursula Academy!

Most Reverend George J. Rehring

Our Chaplain



Reverend Philip King, O.M.I.

The same sincere smile that we have enjoyed during the past two school years again prevailed in our religion classes this year when Father Philip King returned as our spiritual advisor in September.

Father King's enthusiastic and living devotion to Our Blessed Lady has never failed to impress us. He has proved an ever ready listener, always willing to spend an extra minute to offer a word of encouragement or needed advice.

Father's appropriate sermons are sharply etched in our minds. Of special eloquence and inspiration were his talks for the May Crowning, the Enthronement of the Sacred Heart, and the Legion of Mary Acies Ceremony.

In him the students of St. Ursula Academy have not only a chaplain but also a true friend.

The reflection of the Sacred Heart overshadows the daily life of every girl at Saint Ursula Academy. She greets Him as she passes Sacred Heart Court each morning. She pauses to kneel before her enthroned King in the main corridor. She finds His Real Presence in Sacred Heart Chapel.

The Scroll mirrors a year in the life of an Ursuline girl. Because the Sacred Heart is an integral part of that life, we dedicate this Scroll to Him.

Her junior year perspective: Ester Tresta found it full of exciting, challenging events. Naturally the most important activity was the Junior - Senior Prom on April 14. The magnificent mirrors in the ballroom of the Woman's Building held reflections of Ester and her escort swirling to the dreamy music of Dave Jordon. Finally the great day arrived when she received her class ring. Now she felt like a true upperclassman!!

June came . . . the graduating class of 1952 bequeathed the traditions, responsibilities, and privileges to the Senior Class of '53.

The Sophomores . . .

Vice-President Mary McGahey

Secretary Patricia Schnapp

President Loretta Gallagher

Treasurer Virginia Fall

Reflecting the warm smile of the sun, eighty-four sophomores, tanned and happy, returned to begin a new and prosperous year. According to custom, the retaliating sophomores sought sweet revenge by initiating the freshmen.

The sophomores looked forward to carrying out another tradition of the class. They planned the annual St. Ursula's Day breakfast, and after Mass and Holy Communion served the students and faculty in Urban Hall.

Attracted by the spiritual and social activities of the Legion of Mary forty members of the class were invested in the new Praesidium of Our Lady of the Assumption. They visited the hospitals and the children at St. Anthony's Orphanage.

In addition to this charitable work they contributed wholeheartedly to the missions by greatly exceeding their quota. After struggling through theorems, axioms, and kineposiums, the centenary class led the honor roll.

Attention, Please!

The Freshmen . . .

Vice-President	President	Treasurer	Secretary
Marcia Edellstein	Theodora Leonard	Caroline Murray	Constance Kayser

In retrospect we see the autumn hue of swaying trees and sixty-seven eager freshmen hurrying up the road to a new life—high school. This adventure holds the thrill of making new friends and reviewing old times with former grade-school companions. The excitement of wearing their fresh uniforms along with the confusion of changing classes provides never a dull moment within the walls of S.U.A.

On Initiation Day we see the bewildered freshmen bowing to the honorable sophomores. The yearlings, dressed in costumes representing everything from a pink elephant to a question mark, marched through the homerooms of the upperclassmen.

Members of the class entertained the students and faculty with their novel talents at an assembly in November. Among the spiritual activities they sponsored an essay contest on "The Challenge Daily Mass Holds for Me." In keeping with this a group of girls from each parish set aside a certain day of the week to assist at Mass.

The versatile freshmen held their hobby show in the second-floor corridor. The display included such unique items as postal cards, dolls, paintings, hand-made bookmarks, salt and pepper shakers, stamps, and a special display from South America.

With spring in the air the "Class of '55" entertained their prospective freshman guests with a program followed by a tour of the school and refreshments

Enthronement of the Sacred Heart

On Friday, October twenty-sixth, the Sacred Heart was enthroned in Saint Ursula Academy to be a constant Protector in the years to come. The entire student body took part in the beautifully solemn procession led by Anna Mary Hrycyk, President of the Senior Class.

While singing a hymn to the Sacred Heart, the students began the procession from the chapel and proceeded through the halls to the statue of the Sacred Heart on the first floor. There, in a brief talk, Father King explained the significance and special graces attached to the ceremony of the Enthronement and the repetition of the Act of Consecration.

The entire proceedings were led by the members of the "Sacred Heart League" who have distributed leaflets and who spurred our "Sacred Heart Messenger" drive to great success. They also have cared for the flowers and vigil lights at the Sacred Heart shrine.

The Sacred Heart Representatives, kneeling:

Judy Ankenbrandt, Sandra Mushing, Loretta Gallagher, Patricia Cook, Mary Anne Coyle, Anna Mary Hrycyk, Alberta Scott, Barbara Wolfram, Teddy Leonard, Margie Schnapp and Barbara Fey. Standing: Marquerite Ankenbrandt, Janet Michaelson, Father King, Barbara Robakowski, and Virginia Beins.

Saint Ursula Day

Our patroness, St. Ursula, is honored annually on her feast day, October twenty-first, by the participation of the student body in a program of various activities. Following Mass and General Communion, the Sophomores are hostesses at a breakfast sponsored by the faculty in Urban Hall. All the students of the Academy are guests.

On this day also, the first of the semi-annual Student League meetings is held; the second taking place on the feast of the foundress of the Ursuline Order, St. Angela, May thirty-first. During this first meeting, at which the Senior officers preside, the plans for the various activities on the campus are explained to the students in very clear and interesting speeches by the honorary representatives.

Our Hostesses

Jane Bruss, Virginia Warnke, Margaret Schnapp, Judy Waite, Marquerite Ankenbrandt, Miss Kauffman, Anna Mary Hrycyk, Father King, Miss Gaffney.

Eucharistic Committee . . .

The Eucharistic Committee, consisting of a representative from each homeroom, encourages the students to receive Holy Communion as frequently as possible, asserting the grave necessity for prayer and devotion to Our Lord. A chart giving special intentions is placed in each homeroom. These intentions vary from the state of world affairs to school activities. The students are asked to pray for these intentions and, if possible, to offer up their reception of Holy Communion.

The committee is in charge of Christ Courtiers, an organized group of girls who make visits to the chapel at fifteen minute intervals, keeping perpetual attendance during the day. Placed in the chapel are special prayers to be used by the Christ Courtiers during their visits. A chart in the first floor corridor keeps the members of the Christ Courtiers posted about the time for their visit.

Our Lady's Committee . . .

Our Lady's Committee, especially consecrated to the Blessed Virgin, is under the chairmanship of Carol Anderson.

The committee sponsored a Holy Hour in December, honoring Mary's Immaculate Conception. Prayers were recited for the conversion of Russia and universal peace. An act of Consecration was made by the student body.

Representatives of the committee posted charts in each home room reminding the girls of the responsibility of making the First Saturdays. The committee made available to each girl a fine and varied selection of pamphlets during the annual retreat and distributed booklets containing the promise of Our Lady of Fatima.

Standing: Moira Hurley, Carol Anderson, Carol Warnement, and Ann Openlander.
In Front, Seated: Jane Bruss, Carole Badger, and Helen Shondell.

Missions . . .

The Sophomore Class has taken a special interest in supporting the foreign missions this year. They have ransomed pagan babies by taking up small, voluntary contributions every day. Sister Mary Ita was in charge, helping the girls care for the charts pictured here.

A sale of Christmas cards and wrappings was held to benefit the missions. This activity was very successful as the girls tried to bring the thought of Christ back into Christmas by encouraging the purchase of religious Christmas cards.

Above: Marcia Edellstein, Emilie Marcis, Elizabeth Onody, Carol Huffmon.

Legion of Mary . . .

The Praesidia of Our Mother of Sorrows and Our Lady of the Assumption each hold meetings twice a month for members to discuss their charitable activities and to receive the assignment of a special duty for them to carry out. The main purpose of the Legion is to further the acquaintance of its members with Mary, our Mother, and to spread devotion to her into their work by performing acts of charity. The annual Acies ceremony was held in March.

Retreat

During the annual retreat the Ursuline students look deeply into the condition of their spiritual lives. This reflective mood prevailed for Ash Wednesday and the two days following. The Reverend James Vincent Cleary, Oblate of Mary Immaculate, conducted the services of the retreat.

Religion

This year the Freshmen and Sophomores studied the nature and plan of the liturgical year and the sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation.

The life and virtues of the Blessed Virgin, the choice of one's vocation, and social justice constituted the course followed by the Juniors and Seniors.

Above:
Father Cleary, Rosemary Schindler, Alberta Scott, Mary Sue Myers, and Carol Warnement.

Below:
Eileen Collins, Patricia Kozy, Mary Ann Lang, and Margaret Schnapp.

May Crowning

The crystal pure virtues of Mary are reflected especially during her month of May. Appropriately this time was chosen to pay homage to Our Mother through the ceremonies of the traditional May Crowning.

During these ceremonies the May Queen and her attendants led a procession of the student body through the campus. At this time, the Litany of the Blessed Virgin was chanted.

Preceding this were Holy Mass and General Communion. During the Mass traditional hymns of praise to Our Blessed Lady were sung by the students.

As May Queen, Carol Huffmon placed the floral crown upon the brow of the Mystical Rose, signifying that Mary, as Queen, reigns supreme in our hearts. For a fitting climax, Carol led a general Act of Consecration to the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Foreign Languages

Latin

Looking back to the centuries when all Gaul was divided, we see Latin students struggling through the travels of Julius Caeser.

French

"Parlez vous francais?" If in doubt, ask any senior French student and her reply will be "Oui, oui, Mademoiselle."

Here we see a French play, "Le Petit Malade." Le medecin is nervously injecting a hypo needle into l'enfant while la mere watches with great anxiety.

German

Eleven members! No, not a football team, but a German class. These Juniors are busy concentrating on reading, speaking, and translating Deutsch. This squad enjoys the advantages of individual instruction as each girl advances according to her ability.

Spanish

Eagerly these senoritas, with English accents, are looking at the invisible Piniata filled with candy, beans, and money. The Piniata, which originated South of the Border, is fast becoming an international game among Spanish students.

Mathematics

Algebra

Louanne seems to be asking that repetitious question, "What does 'x' equal?" From the looks of things everyone is eager to answer.

Mathematics III

Quadratic equations, powers and roots, irrational number, and factoring compose advanced algebra in third year mathematics. Solid geometry considers figures of three dementions as for example: polyhedrons, clyinders, cones, spheres, and spherical polygons. Axioms, postulates, and theorems added to those learned in plane geometry are applied to the solid figures.

Commercial

Typing

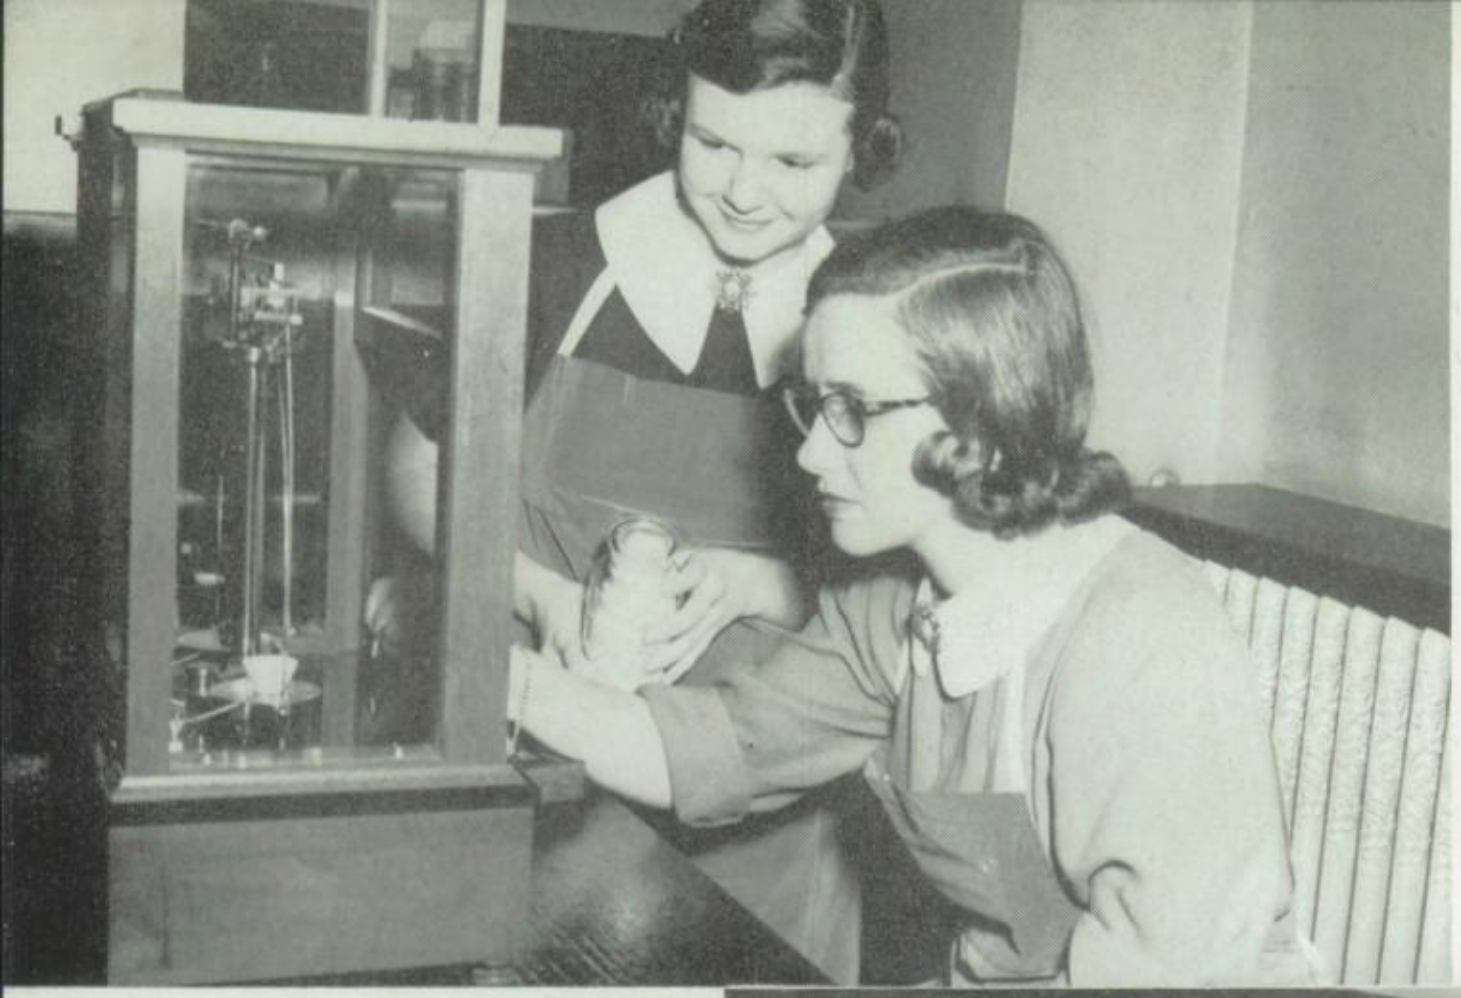
Isn't the usual procedure to open the book like the other girls, Joan? Maybe it wouldn't be so distressing either!

Bookkeeping

Accounting makes the reflection of a commercial program at St. Ursula a complete one.

Shorthand

The basic rules of shorthand are stressed emphatically along with the drill of brief forms. Tales from Aesop's Fables and letters from dictation offer a practical foundation. Board work, shown in this picture, is most important.



Science . . .

Chemistry

Shown here are two students working at the chemical balance which is so delicate that the weight of a name written on a piece of paper may be accurately recorded.

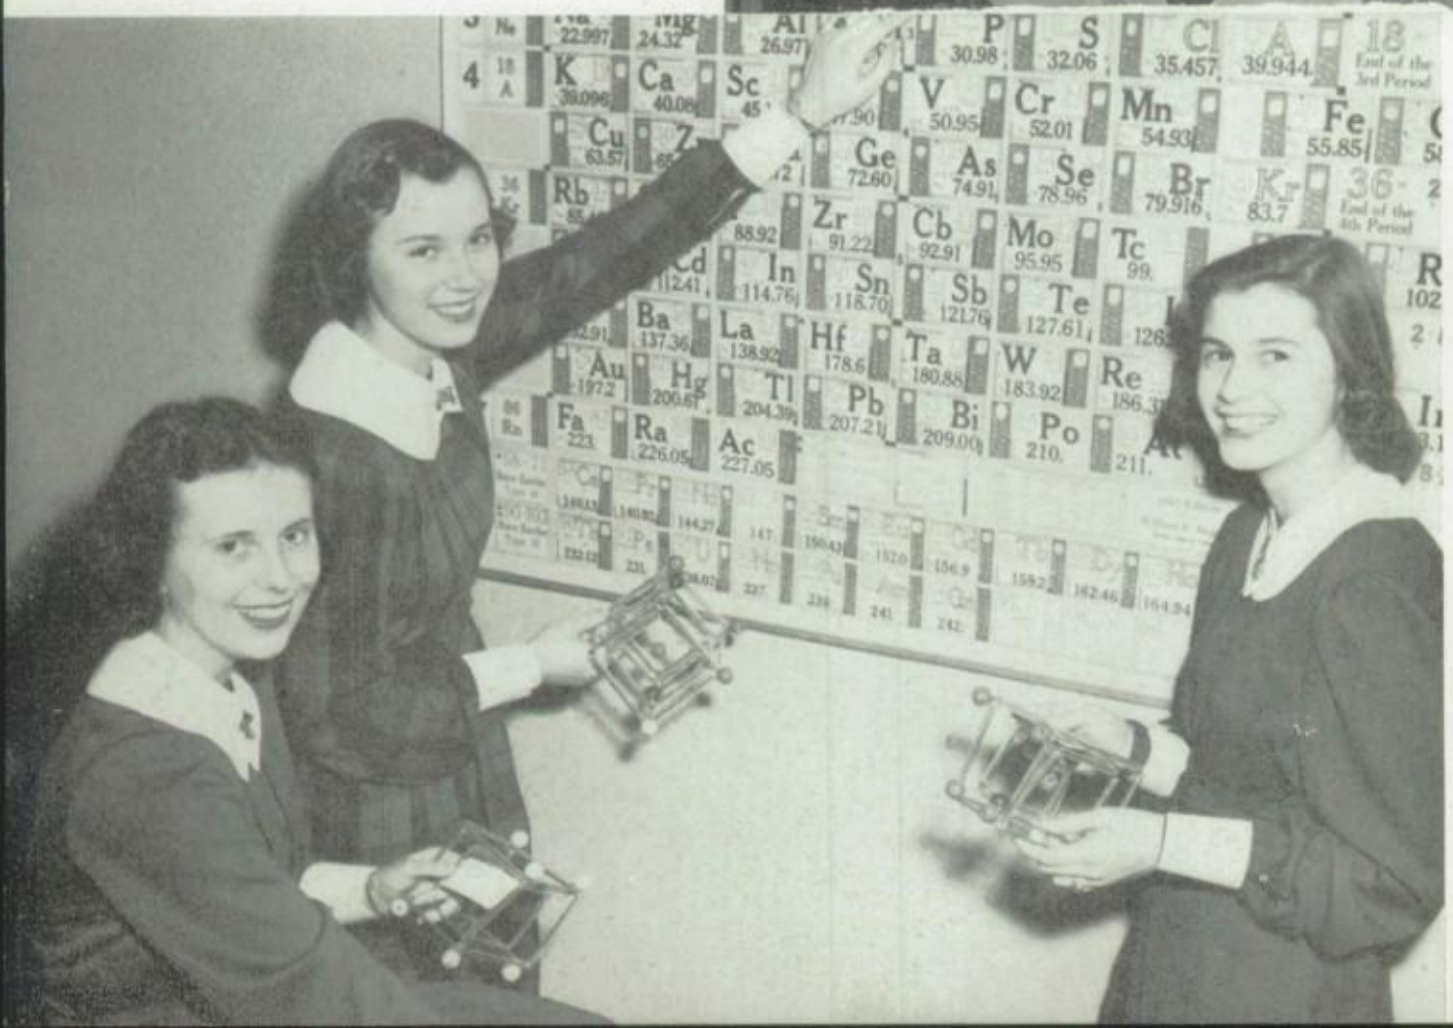
Standing: Dorothy Helfrich.

Sitting: Sue Cole.

"Chemistry at Work" would be a good caption for this picture. Here we see these girls putting to use some of the knowledge which they have acquired. What are they making? Well, it might be $C_{12}H_{22}O_{11}$ or $NaHCO_3$, just plain ordinary sugar and baking soda to us.

Standing: Joan Gibson, Joan Hill, Patricia Kneese, Peggy Benner.

Sitting: Mary Jo Koudelka, Mary Lou Comes.



In the picture at the left we see these Chemistry students examining the periodic charts. In their hands are models of the construction of the various elements and also the number of atoms contained in their orbits.

Undoubtedly here are future chemistry professors at work!

Biology

A phase of the study of biology is the section on the flower—one of the most delicate intricacies of plant life.

Standing: Mary Frances Rensch, Lynn Floyd.

Sitting: Barbara Schrader, Agnes Stein, Diane Graham.

With the phrase, "The groves were God's first temples," running through their minds, these girls are ready to delve into the study of evergreens and forest conservation.

Forestry was stressed this year because of our nation's growing need for the products which our forests produce.

Standing: Mary Louise Leland, Donna Bennett, Donna Hunter.

Sitting: Patricia Nelson.

One of the main divisions of the biology course is that of physiology, which is the study of the structure of the human body and the functions of tissues, cells, muscles and nerves during the life span.

In the picture at the right, the students are shown examining the intricate pattern of the skull and all of its complexities.

Standing: Barbara Robakowski, Lorene Jankowski, Madeleine Giovannucci.

Sitting: Patricia O'Hara, Marcia Gerkin.

Sociology and History . . .

We see through the looking glass these industrious students studying the customs and institutions of man. In the above picture the girls are reading material on the functions of our city and state government. The social problems of Toledo's housing conditions are discussed.

Following in the wake of the Romans, we pass through an era of glorious pageantry into the medieval court life of France and England. Then setting sail we embark upon unknown conquests of the riches, and powers of the New World through our study of history.

Art . . .

Concentrating on craft this year, the art classes made many attractive ceramic pieces in their new kiln. The basic elements of art were thoroughly learned and applied by the freshmen. Delving into the commercial field, the upperclassmen memorized countless "stock" fashion poses, and the techniques of texture and layout. Also on the agenda were oil painting and block printing.

Music . . .

A grand piano, a skillful pair of hands, and an attentive group listening to the melodious movements of Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms are the perfect ingredients for a music appreciation class.

Barbara Schrader, Ann Schuchman and Betty Beckler proudly model the dresses and suits they made.

Home Economics . .

Betty Bruning tests the baked "goodies" while Rose Marie Gribbin adds the final icing.

Many of the girls who enter the home economic classes the first day have little experience in cooking and sewing. Measuring ingredients is the start to making successful pies, cakes, and cookies. The students study nutrition, table setting, and menu planning.

The home economics classes have turned nimble fingers to sewing. Today when clothes are so expensive, the art of making one's clothes is realized as most practical. The girls have produced suits and dresses of which they can be justly proud.

The special courses in home economics this year were home nursing, offered to the sophomores, and first aid, open to the third year students. Child and invalid care were included in the home nursing course which was given at the Red Cross Building.

Jeanette Hundsrucker and Martha Kamelesky apply what they have learned in the home nursing course on Joan DeMars, the supposedly sick patient.

Sandra Leidholdt gives a word of encouragement to Suzanne Willhite and Mary Jo Espen, humming away at the sewing machines.

English . . .

The subject of which we shall make the most practical use in later life is English. For this reason a complete study is required over four years in both grammar and literature. This enables us to use English correctly and to appreciate truly the great masterpieces in literature.

A new course in English is being introduced to the freshmen and sophomore classes—"The Christian Impact in English." As in former years, the juniors' big project is their essay, while the seniors' new interest is journalism.

Dramatics . . .

This year students have had great enthusiasm for the dramatic classes because of their able directress, Sister Mary Charles. Their classes have been filled with the knowledge and excitement of life upon the stage. Shakespeare's theater as well as his works were discussed in many of the classes.

The seniors concentrated on the art of make up and the technical terms of the stage. Their four year course thus ends with more than a smattering of the stage's exciting atmosphere.

The sophomores and juniors studied proper diction and stage appearance, both essentials for any production. Their talents were blended together and students were entertained with Dicken's "Christmas Carol."

Many a school night the faculty and anyone within seeing distance of the staff room could view the girls feverishly pounding away on the typewriters, cutting up pictures, drawing layouts, and in general collaborating their ideas into some semblance of order. This bustling activity went on for three months until the day the "dummy" was sent to the printers. In the following months we learned the saying, "Patience is a virtue," to be true.

We sincerely hope that our classmates will enjoy and cherish the memories that we have endeavored to capture for them in the year '52. In looking back the Scroll staff sees not only the finished product but a chain of joys, surprises, tribulations and rosaries that went into the make-up of this yearbook. The writing, editing, and publishing entailed on these pages are reflections of the knowledge we have absorbed in our primary and secondary years of education. The senior class agrees that this yearbook has put the perfect touch to our four years at St. Ursula's. We hope that any of our teachers glancing at this book will realize it is the culmination of their efforts for us.

Looking through a mirror the patrons of The Ursuline have viewed the events of our school life. This highly accredited paper teaches the seniors many techniques of journalism. Newswriting, editorials, columns, features, and layouts are all part of the production.

Through the newspaper other subjects in the curriculum are correlated. The editors and editorial staff have an opportunity to use the knowledge and skills they have gained in English and art, while the business staff finds practical application of typing, bookkeeping, and filing.

Underclassmen also participate in this extra-curricular activity by contributing original stories and poems. Both feature pages of the Christmas edition were devoted to the writings of the underclassmen.

'The Count and the Co-Ed'

The week-end of February 22 revealed a show case of talent as the class of '52 presented "The Count and the Co-Ed," an operetta by Morgan and O'Hara.

The scene was on the campus of Marden College in the spring of 1910. The story revealed the trials and tribulations of one "Snooze" Andrews. He was supported by other principles, a spirited chorus, and a group of lively dancers.

If one had ventured back into the wings, he would have thought that a Broadway production had come to Toledo. Donning costumes, reading lines, scurrying to the make-up artists were but a few of the sights to be seen.

The Music Graduates

The fingers of Patricia Moran and Jane Bruss have tripped the light fantastic on the piano for many school years. These seniors graduate this year in music, chalking up two "sheepskins" for themselves—quite an accomplishment! Jane also graduates in voice. We hope the future will hold notes of music, thoughts of Bach and of Carnegie Hall for both of them.

The Orchestra . . .

Peering into the music life of Saint Ursula's we find it greatly enhanced by the school orchestra. Their fine melodies have given the final touch to all the big events of the year. This earnest group of musicians is supervised and directed by Sister Jeanne Marie. S.U.A. has a personal pride in its "girls of harmony."

The A Cappella Choir

Gazing into the crystal ball we see a familiar group of girls standing before us. They are on stage; the curtain has just risen. A signal is given and the auditorium swells with harmonious tones. Yes, another of the many performances of the A Cappella Choir under the able direction of Sister St. Mark has begun.

The Sno-Ball . . .

Rubbing aside the frost and gazing into the windows of Urban Hall on December first, nineteen fifty-one, any passerby could see glistening snow flakes and little snow-men. In the center of the hall, atop the "North Pole," two penguins surveyed the entire dance.

The couples whirled to the music of Chuck Bialoruki's orchestra. Several of the senior hostesses served punch to quench the thirst of the jitterbugs.

The freshmen bravely participated in their introduction to the social life at Saint Ursula's. "After the ball was over," they resolved that such activities would often form a share of their education.

The Prom . . .

On the evening of Easter Monday, April 14, lovely visions could be seen floating through the doors of the Women's Building ballroom.

The annual Junior-Senior Prom was being held with the juniors acting as hostesses. Plans and committees were formed by the capable officers of the class of '53. The parents of junior and senior officers were chaperones of the affair.

Dave Jordan's orchestra set the rhythm for the swirling formals from eight-thirty to eleven-thirty. "Stardust," as always, closed the dance with a perfect finishing touch.

Reflected in the wide eyes of a war orphan or a sick child in a battle-scarred nation, we see joyous gratitude for a Red Cross Box or a stuffed animal from an American friend.

The Ursuline girls, through their active work in the Junior Red Cross, have contributed their share in this community work.

The Legion Activities

Through the crystal beads of the rosary the Legion of Mary dedicates its religious work.

The accomplishments in their wide variety of work are acknowledged by all. Reading to the sick, visiting the orphanage and home of the aged are but a few of their corporal works of mercy.

Each girl feels a great satisfaction in aiding others for Mary, our Mother.

The mermaids of the freshmen and senior classes enjoyed themselves at a "get-acquainted" splash party during November. The clear water of the Catholic Club's pool reflected the friendly countenances of S.U.A. girls at this party sponsored by senior hostesses. The fun didn't end with the swimming and water games, for there was a buffet supper served afterwards. The freshmen reciprocated with informal entertainment. A general sentiment was expressed by the freshman who said, "I like being in the swim!"

AFTER GRADUATION.....??

Suppose you are postponing further academic learning and are going to work. Have you chosen your field of endeavor? Are you considering the places where you will look for work? Have you considered L-O-F? What do those letters mean?

L stands for Libbey in the corporate name Libbey-Owens-Ford. But "L" in L-O-F also stands for Loyalty. The company recognizes this by annually paying honor to scores of people with more than 25 years of company service.

O stands for Owens. But "O" in L-O-F also stands for Opportunity. There are many versions of opportunity in L-O-F. A former mailboy is a traffic executive, another is high on the ladder in the purchasing department. A former accountant has become an officer of the company.

F stands for Ford. In L-O-F, this letter also can stand for "Friends" because you have many friends when you work in L-O-F. It also can identify two of the company's products—flat glass and Fiber-Glass.

We've had our fun haven't we? I hope we can be real good friends always.

Remember when we went to Greenfield Village (Brother - I do). At least I got a date? for the prom out of it.

All your boyfriends are always very interesting - especially the - - - - - - - ones. (get what I mean). Whenever you have an extra one Remember me will you?

Come over alot. I'll come over too (of course) and I'll let you know first so you can get some brownies and orange juice. Well - there good even if they are

Dear Judy,

Well I guess we've finally reached the end of our arguments and check-out jokes which we frequently played on each other. I'm sitting the "missing caskets" I didn't take them myself but I know what happened to them, and you were so funny when you found out that they were gone. You looked as if you had lost your last "best friend." maybe "Marvin" oh well whatever. I can [illegible] sent with Freddy. "How many kids did you say he has." I'm just kidding!!? This is rather sad but I'm trying myself to figure out of these days because I haven't seen it yet. I'm going to miss our birthdays and Xmas exchange and all the other things which we did together and had so much fun doing I'm running out of things to say but we've really had loads of fun and I hope we'll be able to keep having it after graduation. Well this is it. Love

Mary Lu
